

You and your class are invited to attend the 2026 Children's Gnangara Groundwater Festival

Whiteman Park is excited to be holding the twenty-fourth annual Children's Gnangara Groundwater Festival in November 2026. Register your class now to attend this unique Festival where you will learn about our most precious resource – water!

Our Festival brings Western Australian middle and upper primary school students and their teachers together to learn about groundwater and other related environmental conservation issues. Through interactive and dynamic activities such as 'Edible Aquifer' and 'Root Pursuit', they will explore hands-on learning about groundwater geology, conservation and water quality topics.

Since 2002, over 20,000 students have attended the Festival, with many schools returning year after year! The feedback from teachers, students and presenters has always been overwhelmingly positive.

Program

The Festival is run over one day, with up to 32 classes able to participate this year. Each class is scheduled into four hours of dynamic, hands-on learning activities, including the introductory 'Mega Water Show', one period of unscheduled 'Free Time' fun and a lunch break.*

All of the workshop activities align with learning areas of the WA Curriculum and teachers receive digital copies of our comprehensive 'Groundwater Guru' teacher resources that includes plenty of classroom ideas for both before and after the festival!

We also strive to track students' understanding of groundwater topics pre- and post-festival.

The Children's Gnangara Groundwater Festival aims to:

- inspire students to learn more about conserving water and the environment that surrounds and nourishes them.
- deliver an understanding of groundwater and the role it plays within natural and manmade ecosystems through fun, interactive workshops.
- provide teachers and children with a unique opportunity to interact with a number of environmental educators in the same place, on the same day.
